Average Data IO Percent Low

The average Data IO Percent Low metric is the percentage of Data IO being used relative to the current service tier of the database. Consistent low values indicate that the service tier selected may be more than the average Log Write Percent High what is required for the database.

IDERA | Products | Purchase | Support | Community | Resources | About Us | Legal